

La Plata County Comprehensive Plan DRAFT Vision & Goal Statements January 2010

Background

The La Plata County Comprehensive Plan update began the end of June 2009. From July to November, the community engaged in the development of a community vision for the year 2030. The visioning process helped to identify what people love about the County that they do not want to see change, issues and concerns, things that people would like to see different, and long term aspirations for the future. Beginning in late September, the Citizen's Working Group, as well as some smaller subcommittees, took the community's input and began to develop a set of draft goals. In December, a half-day workshop was held in Durango to review and edit the draft. These goals are now ready for your review and comment. Four public meetings will be held to allow you input into the development of the goals. Visit the website for a schedule.

Goals are intended to be broad statements that describes the final result one hopes to achieve. After refining these goal statements, the next step will be to develop specific strategies and actions that will allow La Plata County to achieve its vision and goals.

For more information on the Comprehensive Plan process, go to www.laplatacountyplan.com or contact Jason Meininger at 382-6267.

We sincerely thank you for your participation in helping make La Plata County a great place to live!

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

Guiding principles serve as a basis of reasoning and action; a set of beliefs that lead, show the way and direct the decisions of the plan. They are the fundamental basis for any decision. They will shape the solution and define the way strategies are developed. Each principle should be defined with a rationale that explains the principle's purpose and implications. Guiding principles define the ground rules for the process and development of the plan. La Plata County will embrace these Guiding principles in the development of the Comprehensive Community Plan:

- Growth and change will continue to occur in the future and will likely continue to alter our rural/agricultural landscape; it can either serve or not serve our community interests and values.
- Growth can create great places to live and work if the community crafts a vision and sets standards and codes for development that express how and where it wants to grow or change.
- An integration of land uses such as housing, retail, work places, schools, parks, and civic facilities are important to the daily life of the residents, and when conveniently located are components of achieving better places to live.
- A variety of commercial land uses accommodate business growth and support economic diversity.
- A diversity of housing types available to a wide range of income levels, age groups and abilities are essential to creating real and healthy communities.
- Providing a continuous system of greenbelt/wildlife corridors help to define identified growth communities.
- Communities are desirable places to live when they include a system of connected streets, infrastructure, pedestrian paths, and bike routes to commercial, educational, recreational, and residential destinations.
- Land use planning integrated with a larger transportation network encourages a variety of transportation choices and modes.
- Agricultural land and agricultural production are important to local economic vitality.
- Open space and critical natural areas are important to the local character and the community's quality of life.
- Energy efficiency and renewable energy production at the local and regional levels provide the basis for a sustainable economy.
- A prudent community uses water through the most efficient means possible.
- Growth and development standards and decisions are clear, predictable, consistent, fair, timely, and cost effective.
- A fundamental role for the county is to maintain fiscal soundness.
